CONGRESSIONAL BLACK CAUCUS PAC ENDORSES SHONTEL
BROWN FOR CONGRESS

The CBCPAC endorses Chairwoman and Councilwoman Shontel Brown in her bid for Congress in the OH-11 Special Election.

Washington, D.C. - The Congressional Black Caucus PAC announced today their endorsement of Shontel Brown in her run for Congress in the OH-11 Special Election.

“The CBCPAC is proud to endorse Shontel Brown as she seeks to represent the people of Ohio’s 11th Congressional District. She is no stranger to adversity and has spent her career fighting for Ohioans. Shontel Brown worked alongside community leaders to install public wifi hotspots in the Greater Cleveland area in order to improve access to broadband, helping to close the digital divide. We know that she will work tirelessly to also ensure that all Americans have quality affordable health care, living wage jobs and a justice system that works for everyone,” CBCPAC Executive Director, Yolonda Addison said.

Shontel has a proven track record of getting results and resources for her constituents. Her commitment to affordable & quality health care, strong unions, fair wages, and a thriving public school system while she was a councilwoman is proof that she will work tirelessly for Northeast Ohioans in Washington. She is a progressive champion who will always put Ohio first. Her commitment to the community, and support from many veteran members of Congress ensures that Shontel Brown will head to DC to bring back results, not just sound bites, for Ohio’s 11th.

The CBCPAC raised over $13 million dollars in the 2020 cycle in hopes to retain current Members of the Congressional Black Caucus as well as ensure that candidates running to uplift the Congressional Black Caucus' values were supported. This allowed the CBCPAC to invest more than $6 million dollars directly into the 2020 election cycle with $2 million dollars going into an independent expenditure, $2 million+ more invested with partner organizations, and another $2 million+ dollars given directly to candidate campaigns. The CBCPAC aims to protect the sitting Members of the Congressional Black Caucus, elect new Members who will be allies for the CBC's legislative priorities and candidates who will encourage, engage and excite voters to ensure they participate in the electoral process.
